BANFF, Alta., May 25—King George and Queen Elizabeth relaxed Sunday in this resort town high in the Rockies. It is the first opportunity they had since they landed at Quebec to get away from the press and the cameras. They enjoyed a quiet evening, and uniforms were discarded for comfortable tweeds adored by golfers. The King has planned a round of golf on Banff's course, but the hand he injured on his train still was giving him trouble.

They were in Banff for a week, and Van snow-covered road leading to the Royal Palace. The Royal played fatigue upon their arrival. Calmly, the King said: "I am glad to have a few days to myself. I have been working hard all day, and I am glad to have a few days to myself."

Another week in Banff will give the King time to recuperate after a glimpse of some of the greatest railroad engineering feats and scenic beauties of Canada. For hundreds of miles the train was still giving him trouble, but the wild green

MINER RESCUED FROM COAL HOLE AFTER 65 HOURS

KING, QUEEN CROSS RIDER BY AUTOMOBILE

SHENANDOAH, Pa., May 25—Robert McConochie, a 36-year-old anthracite miner, was dug out of a coal hole early today, apparently uninjured after 65 hours of being trapped in the mine and dirt.

Rescuers who had been unable to find him with a shovel and shovel reached Goliad at 1:30 a.m. today.

Hoisted up a shaft 75 feet deep, Galligan greeted the miners with a "Gimme a cigarette" and let me sit down a while."

He was taken to a hospital, where physicians said he was suffering slightly from shock.

A team of men of rock trapped the miners at 11 a.m. Friday as he worked in the mine, one of the many so-called "black holes" in eastern Pennsylvania which form the heart of the hard coal section. Two companions escaped.

Two Bodies Found

POWELL, River, May 25—The bodies of a Shilohian Indian couple were found about a small gas well near the town of Powell, 80 miles north of Vancouver, early Sunday and British Columbia police said they were holding a white steamer trunk, the owner of the boat for questioning.

Vancouver Scene Of Jubilation As King, Queen Arrive

By THOMAS WAYLING
Edmonton Bulletin Staff Correspondent

VANCOUVER, May 29—Their Majesties today fulfilled the motto of Canada's coat-of-arms: "Amaris Usque Ad Mare"—"From Sea to Sea." Arriving on the Pacific coast Their Majesties completed the Royal progress of Canada from coast to coast, and all along the way they were welcomed with jubilation and with loyalty.

Canada's motto is taken from the Bible: "They shall have dominion from sea to sea," and today Their Majesties had their first sight of their Canadian Dominion from sea to sea.

Vancouver is dressed up to within an inch of its life, and hundreds of thousands of people lined the streets and parts of the coast. There were youngsters from up the coast and the islands who have never seen an automobile; there were people who had not been into a city for years. They all poured into Vancouver for the Royal welcome.

BRITAIN SEEKS 1914 ALLIANCE WITH RUSSIANS

Another Step Made In Entry of Soviet to New Pact

MOSCOW, May 29—Representatives of Great Britain and France Saturday delivered to Russia what was understood to be an order to resume the close British-French-Russian cooperation of 1914.

Identical messages were delivered to Jozef Pilsudski, Russian president, and to Georges Clemenceau, prime minister and commissioner of foreign affairs, both of whom said their contents were disclosed.

In the Kremlin, despite of the secret nature of the negotiations, a series of speeches. Foreign affairs were not mentioned, another step toward of Russo-French alliance was taken after weeks of negotiations, spread slowly in Moscow.

Official quarters maintained silence on the reported entries and most foreign observers believed that what Britain's answer would be, was optimistic.

MEYRIONNE, May 29—Great Britain and France hoped to find an early answer to Europe's greatest mystery—Russia's war strength—the armed forces of Soviet Russia.

In London, it was understood that a special military mission to Moscow might soon begin gen-

50,000 Visitors From Washington State Pour Across Border — Bleachers Begin Filling Hours Before Royal Train Due

By JOHN DAUPHINE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER, May 29—Thousands of Vancouverites took early places along the North Shore highway to-day, bundled up against the wind, which chilled men, women and children without making any break in dark clouds over the city and mountains to the north.

Street cars and buses started an hour or more earlier than usual on all routes, and early risers were soon filling the downtown business section in huge numbers.

Long before 6:00 a.m.—five hours before King George and Queen Elizabeth arrived by special train—blanket-wrapped residents and visitors crowded on the grass to hold vantage points to see their sovereigns.

People who had come from Washington state formed a steady stream at Pacific highway port of entry. Some estimated crowd at 30,000 the same time. Unionists valuing coming here for the day.

EARLY STRAGGLERS

The Royal train had run eastward for 11 hours and 11 minutes east, before early stragglers took their chosen places on flat decked-bunting-draped streets.

Others who had been late in starting clattered alone in a block-long sandalwood block opposite the Sandgate Inn, with Highlanders on guard duty.

A half dozen men and women huddled against a cement parapet to watch the train go by, others to pass the time. A white-haired woman, hands purple with cold, was smiling with cold, smiling with cold, in the sun, the steps of a downtown church where a score of

ROYAL COUPLE TAKE RIDE IN TWO-HOSS SHAY

BANFF, Alta., May 27—King George and Queen Elizabeth rattled over mountain roads of beautiful Banff National Park Saturday afternoon in a two-hoss shay.

Two white horses pulled the old-fashioned high-backed blue wagon with four bright red wheels. The old rig, locally named a shay, was unearthed from the loft of a Blackfriars livery stable in London, Queen expressed a wish to drive in one.

Buffalo robes covered the seats, and rock music provided the mightiest bugle. Scarlet robes covered Their Majesties' knees as they drove six miles through the gold country.

Officials looked on as at the station which didn't look capable of carrying Their Majesties and their drivers. A special Alberta reception committee kicked a wheel speculatively just before the King and Queen stepped in but it held together.

PROROGATION IS LIKELY BY END OF WEEK

OTTAWA, May 29—Parliament resumed its labors today with the possibility that prorogation might be reached by the end of the week. Little legislation remained to be disposed of, but the session, which has accumulated, and some members consider it is too much to get through before the first week in June.

Among major items on the program will be Finance Minister MacEachern's budget bill for 1939-40, and the bill for authority to government to borrow up to $750,000,000 for refunding and other purposes. The Royal Canadian Co-operative Commonwealth Federation measure will open the way for the introduction of new stages with alternative suggestions for an issue of currency to accompany the new money. The government, however, has been equally insistent that there will be no such inflationary step.

THEIR MAJESTIES ATTEND DIVINE SERVICE SUNDAY

By THOMAS WAYLING
Edmonton Bureau Staff Correspondent

BANFF, Alta., May 29—Their Majesties Sunday attended their first divine service in Canada at the church of St. George's Anglican.

The little stone church at the corner of the river and the Red Cross of St. George at the foot of its tiny steeples, and long before the organ began, the King and Queen appeared.

The King and Queen appeared greatly relaxed after the jaunt.

After the service, the King and Queen were welcomed in a buggy, locally called a shay, drawn by two white horses.

For the drive the Queen wore a light-colored coat, and the King a suit.

During the early part of the morning, the King and Queen were shown to a tailored blue-grey tweed suit, shot, cuffed, and off-the-shoulder, with a blue silk kerchief tied over her neck.

As Their Majesties must constantly be on the move, they are in the little church of England, they attended an Anglican church, although they did not communicate with the priest.

Their Majesties posed for photographers on the hotel terrace where they walked for 10 minutes with Prime Minister Mackenzie King and George Stewart, press attaché.

Scotia's dominion has no established church, therefore there is no law written or unwritten which states that the King and Queen must go to the Anglican or other church.

Today the cameras were returned to the hotel with film developed minus the prints of the royal riders.

SCOTIA BANFF CHIEF SENDS KING GREETING

Fan Mail For Their Majesties 100 Letters a Day

By R. K. CARNEGIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer
BANFF, Alta., May 29—The provost of Banff, Scotland, cabled to the King at Banff, Alberta, to express the hope Their Majesties would remain in Canada in Canadian Banff. This was one of many similar messages received by the King's private secretary's office.

The fan mail runs somewhat over 100 letters a day. Many of them are from persons who believe they have some particular reason for writing Their Majesties. These requests range from those from the same country as the King or Queen, having lived near where the King or Queen had lived at some time past.

GLAD SEE THEM

The only reason many gave for writing was that their names also were George and Elizabeth. Most of the letters tell how glad the writers were at having been able to see the King and Queen, and they expressed the hope the tour will continue to be as happy as it has been so far.

Occasionally a letter arrives that carries a note of pathos. A mother of a small boy who wanted to see his King was asking that the route of Their Majesties' drive be changed so it would go by the boy's home town. The King's greeting it would be impossible to change the route at this late date.

NO GIFTS ACCEPTED

The letters advised in newspapers that Their Majesties would be unable to accept any gifts from their subjects as had been desired often when they have been received. When the Prince of Wales toured Canada so many gifts came in that the King and Queen deteriorated with them before they could be returned to the would-be donors.

PHOTOGRAPHERS LOSE CAMERAS, ROYAL FILMS

BANFF, Alta., May 29—Amateur photographers and policemen got fooled Sunday when the films from cameras confiscated Saturday were developed.

At Their Majesties' wish, no snapshots were to be taken of their informal drive around Banff Saturday afternoon, and every camera and every film was mounted policeman not ready to shoot the King and Queen when they turned after the film was developed.

During the informal drive, the cameras confiscated were mounted on the front of a buggy, drawn by two white horses, strolled informally, in that manner, and were accompanied with them before they could be returned to the would-be donors.

One photographer remarked,

"He's prettier than pink roses, man or else they lost their photographic badge when they saw the Queen."

Today the cameras were returned to the hotel with film developed minus the prints of the royal riders.

DIONNE QUINTUPLETS THRILLED AT GREETINGS FOR 5TH BIRTHDAY

CALLANDER, Ont., May 29—Lord Nuffield, automobile magnate and philanthropist, announced Saturday his intention of contributing 1,000,000 shares of Morris Motors for improving the facilities for recreation and education in the northern territories and other parts of Canada.

His gift, worth approximately $1,000,000 ($60,000,000), was revealed in a letter to Sir George Stewart, president of Lord Nuffield's firm.

End the Uncertainty

The Central Mortgage Bank Bill was given second reading in the Commons "on division" but without a formal recorded vote. Which means the critics did not see any popularity to be gained by putting themselves on record as being opposed, and let it go through by default. They may blockade it in committee, but the refusal to openly oppose its passage is admission that public opinion is felt to be strongly favorable to the plan; so favorable that it would be "bad politics" to try to defeat the measure.

This is, or should be, assurance that the bill will be translated into law at the present session, and the business of re-starting the order in the chaotic mortgage loan situation got under way as soon as possible.

There is now an added reason for immediate action. The country has been given a prospect that mortgage interest rates in future will be not more than 2 per cent higher than the yield on Dominion bonds. No one is likely in the interval to contract a loan at a higher rate of interest, or at a fixed rate likely to be more than this; while lenders will be "at sea" until the bill is finally enacted. Mortgage investment, it must be supposed, will be even more sluggish than it has been until the future conditions have been definitely settled. Prompt action is for this added reason urgently desirable.

The Public Also Have a Part

It is estimated that 150,000 people crowded Calgary streets to welcome the King and Queen, approximately twice the population of the city. This gives an idea of the crowded conditions to be looked for in Edmonton on Friday. There will, it is safe to predict, be more people in the city that day than there ever has been, more visitors than have ever been present, and a street congestion beyond precedent. While painstaking arrangements for the safety and comfort of the crowds have been made by the committee in charge, in cooperation with the police and other civic departments, the public will also have to do their part if the event is to be carried through in a creditable and satisfactory way.

Everyone should familiarize himself in advance with the special traffic regulations which have been made for the demonstration; and obey them. Every child that is old enough to toddle about but not old enough to take care of itself should bear a tag giving its name and address. Residents of the city should plan to let visitors have right-of-way at the eating places. These are a few of innumerable ways in which forethought, courtesy and good humor can be made to contribute to the convenience and pleasure of all. Edmonton has the reputation of being a "friendly" city. We shall have a chance on Friday to show that the claim is justified.

Franco On His Own

From Rome comes word of an official announcement that the last of the 40,000 (or more) Italian troops sent to Spain will be returned home "within the current month." And from Vigo comes news that Spaniards crowded the docks there to witness the embarkation of a Nazi contingent for Germany. Credit where it is due; Il Duce apparently is keeping one promise, a year and a half behind time. The Fuehrer is not known to have made any promises in this connection, and is presumably taking his troops home because their usefulness in Spain has ended, and perhaps their welcome as well.

It may be a sanguine surmise, but the direct inference is that the dictators are leaving Franco to steer his own course—no doubt with foreknowledge of what course he will steer, or in opposition that they know this. In any case the departure will, in fact, leave Franco with a free hand, which he did not have while these foreign garrisons were stationed in Spain. His friends of the country seem to be complete and his authority well established. Freed from the presence of his keepers, and having made some sort of settlement of accounts with his sponsors, he may surprise the world by ruling Spain in the interests of the Spaniards instead of making it an instrument for the furtherance of the schemes of the aggressors.

Even a presumptive dummy is entitled to be considered innocent until his actions prove his guilt.

Other Times, Other Methods?

The idea that Canada's two railway systems should be put under a single management has been investigated fully and fairly by a committee of the Senate through the course of two sessions. All that could be said on behalf of unification was told the committee, by the railwaymen best qualified to present its case.

The committee majority in the end has rejected the claim that a solution of what is called the "railway problem" could be found by merging the operation of the two systems. That this conclusion is in line with the mass of public opinion is beyond dispute. The testimony put before the committee by anti-unification railwaymen, the opinions of witnesses representing railway patrons, and public opinion as expressed through the newspapers, put the amalgamation arguments out of court a year ago. The committee majority did no more than pronounce the verdict to which the country came when the case for unified control had been heard.

This leaves the "railway problem" up to the railwaymen. The "problem" as seen from their point of view is that of making the railways pay. How to do it is the question to which they must seek an answer. That the question is a simple one no one can suppose. The bald fact is that the railways have been treated rather inconsistently. They have lost local traffic almost entirely, and middle-distance traffic to an amazing extent, to carriers running on highways constructed with public money. The long distance traffic cannot be loaded with charges high enough to make the railways profitable. There is a limit to which services can be curtailed in the interests of economy, even on lines where they do not pay.

It is a new situation, and a difficult one for the railway management. Perhaps they will have to match the revolution in conditions by a revolution in methods of operation.

Editorial Notes

Strange things happen in these peculiar times, but it doesn't seem likely the Trans-Atlantic airliners will be overloaded with mail matter at 30 cents per half-ounce.

Thousands of former patients, scattered throughout the continent, will sense personal bereavement at the passing of Dr. Charles H. Mayo, co-founder with his brother of the famous clinic at Rochester, Minnesota. There is no method by which to calculate the service these men have done to humanity. Not the least, perhaps the greatest, part of that service is the example and inspiration they have given to others to follow their lead and do something to cure the ills of mankind—whether as doctors or as workers in other fields of helpful endeavor.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

Personal acquaintances of my brother Harry, and those who knew him through his paintings of marine scenes, will regret to hear of his death at Suva in the course of his customary voyage round the world at this time of year. A powerful, active chap, he had met with an accident which led to blood-poisoning. Death is a certain thing in life, and one which seems to catch us unawares. It matters little in which sense of the word we discard the fleshly trap. He had enjoyed life, added to its gaiety and beauty, and had wondered often that Death never had caught up with him before. On his first voyage to Cape Horn as a young man he had been overboard. Then as the sailors say, "the next sea sweeps him back again"—literally the next seas three the ship over to where he was able to grab a salvaged piece of krait thwarts galore on his face, and each boat tales.

Strange how particular scenes become engraved on our memories. A sister in England who had been arranging for retirement, and for Harry to spend the rest of his days with her in order to give him a quiet life to give to him his last days.

I remember a joyful picnic we made with a party of young folks from Vancouver. We stopped at a little island up Burrard Inlet to have a swim. While the little boat was being maneuvered to come alongside with the Len Chasman, a gift for making faces. An archbishop's nice apé-like over the rocks, climbed a tree, hung downwards from a branch by one hand and one foot, and croaked and monkey-like noises and threats of his armpit.

Wherever he is, he'll be amusing the company with jests, stories and tricks.

When the wreak broke out, Harry hastened to England to join the Navy. When the examiner found out he was a sailor by profession he rejected him. "We can take men off the streets and make sailors of them for our purpose. The real sailors are needed for running the submarine zone."

Nowhere else work is in and out of the submarine zone, until United States entered the war and the Atlantic liners could carry guns. Harry won a place on the Olympia when my brother-in-law Tom was state engineer to France. Special efforts were made to sink her for the moral effect on the American people. In fighting mines were laid. The Scyllies spied two submarine boats. Horn over went the wheel as the big liner rammed and sunk one, while gunners sank the other.

In Cherbourg, Harry was trying under mutual difficulties to get the ship to sail excepting a group of French sailors in an inn. He had mentioned that his brother Ernest had been on the Louisiana when she was sunk. Becoming familiar, he asked the French major what he was in civilian life. "I am a painter in Paris," said the major. "Will you paint me?" said Harry, pulling out a gold medal he had just received for an exhibit in an American exhibition.

Said he, "My French must have been bad or the wine was good, for the Major called me that I was a good painter. He showed me his studio, a room filled with pictures. He had a studio in the Rue de la Paix, a picture of the Shrine of Miracles at Lourdes in France in the hope of recovery. For three of his children had been killed in the war."

He was a salutary and the Major kind me on both cheeks at the end of a speech about the hero of the Louisiana."

A COMFORT IN CONTRAST

in an "iron lung" Smith went to China on a round-the-world trip in 1925, his life has been a helpless one, despite his bravery and cheerfulness. A special car brought him from Florida to New York with an accompanying nurse. A special car built especially for him and fastened to a truck, which carries him with police escort—to the steamer. The party includes the wealthy parents, five nurses, a physiotherapist, a medical doctor, two engineers, and the driver of the special electric respirator sometimes used.

It's something to be greatly thankful for, to lead a full, active generous life even though the call comes in one's prime.

WHAT THE COLUMNISTS MISS

Like millions of other Americans, I read the newspaper columns syndicated by New York writers. My brethren of the pen will scarcely share me when I say that my predominant feeling toward them is one of contempt.

Their views are individualistic, their nests by acquiring vast properties, that they will not take the risk of losing them, they most certainly would be in the event of a losing war.

They are in political "shambles," and personal interests affect the national and personal interests affecting the national program.

Hence there has ensued a wholesale period of delay. The dangers of a spring offensive is lessened, but a harvest period has been in southern Germany. Until the world seems reasonably safe, that is to say, until perhaps for a considerable time after that.

It is a period of uncertainty, and the world is up of like-minded men and women who know life, real life, must hold fast to the truth, patent to every one with eyes, that real life is spiritual life; and that everybody is chiefly interested in the things that affect his inner life.

Absurd, isn't it?

They are composite, the person who "knows life" real life, must hold fast to the truth, patent to every one with eyes, that real life is spiritual life; and that everybody is chiefly interested in the things that affect his inner life.

The good society of our time, thank God, is made

Business Better

Canadian business during the past month has done somewhat better than hold its own. Although there have been no spectacular advances in the armament field, whether retail trade has been picking up and the public is now making its normal purchases of seasonal goods. While business conditions in the United States have not maintained the improvement which was expected, the economic situation in Canada has been better. Canadian exports, the demand for canola from that country has been strong and the export quota assigned to Canadian cattle for the second quarter of the year was exhausted early in May. One interesting development is that there has been a return movement of coal from Canada to that country. In respect to the outlook for overseas trade, significance is attached to the effect on shipping rates of the enormous expenditures on armaments in the United Kingdom, which is still Canada's best customer for many exports. Contributing to a recent statistical improvement in economic conditions in the Dominion as a whole has been increased railway carloadings and a higher trend in wholesale prices.

Two Play At It

There is an interesting narrative behind the dispatch of General George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the United States Army, to Brazil. It must not be overlooked that several weeks ago, as part of the campaign to increase German prestige in South America and to get a sympathetic hearing for German aims among influential Latin-American states, Field Marshal von Rundstedt, the Berliner, was invited to Generalissimo of Brazil, Gen. Pedro Aurelio de Góes Monteiro. There he was to have been much feted, given the privilege of "leading" a division of German troops, and every effort was to have been made to produce in him an attitude which would fit in sympathetically with the present dispensation in Berlin. And they do things very well in Germany.

State Department officials and influential leaders in Brazil are interested in the Grads. They are good sports, carry on all sorts of social activities, good temper and they play the game fairly and squarely.

General Marshall's visit to Brazil is to be highly complimented on his work with the club. He is an excellent example of the greater expert known as a "gentleman."

It would be nothing short of an insult for me to even suggest how he should treat these girls. His attitude has been excellent. As long as we have him, we have a good chance.

If Mr. Marshall will stick closely to the principles of fair play, he will give the world a new example of statesmanship and fairness and use his knowledge of foreign policy and all that is important in the conduct of international relations. This internationally controlled finance-party political racket that has now become as deadly as a malignant disease.

It would be engaged as house raid, and had been in his new home for more than an hour when she came to her new mistress.

She said, "I want to make this a week-end. I'm not afraid of you, but I'm afraid of the world. I'm afraid of the world and grand things like this historic event!" M. H. HAGEN.

What To DoKeep Keen Watch For "Best Buy Of Month"*Bulletin Patterns*SWING INTO SUMMER . . . THREE SKIRTS
Made With One Pattern

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX
To keep within a low-cost food budget a penny-wise bride will buy fruits, vegetables and meats which are most abundant, and therefore cheapest. Only in that way can she get quality and quantity for her money.

May and early June have peak strawberry crops. Bermuda onions from Texas are still their best, though they are getting better. Spring lamb, butter, broiling chickens and practically all the green vegetables are also in their peak at this time. The same is true around these foods, and as the season changes, so too will the peak.

Study the grocery ads published in The Edmonton Bulletin. Budget meals are not so much a matter of self-denial as a matter of intelligence and a knowledge of menu making within the peak prices.

STRAWBERRY WHIP
(Serves 2—with enough for luncheons next day)

One cup fresh strawberries, cut in pieces; 2 cups heavy cream; 1 teaspoon gelatin; 1 tablespoon cold water; 1 cup powdered sugar; 1 egg white, pinch salt.

Rub through coarse sieve. Combine with lemon juice. Soften gelatin in warm water; add to strawberries. Beat egg white until it begins to thicken. Then add sugar, unbeaten egg white and salt. Stand on unbroken ice and beat until stiff. Fold in strawberries. Turn enough to hold its shape. Then turn into dessert glasses and chill.

Top with whipped cream or a cream sauce. Add to taste, cubed leftover fish, or veal or chicken. Serve well, turn into glasses, garnish with orange or lemon crums and chill in moderate oven for about 20 minutes.

Bride's Budget Menu
Approximately $8 per week for two.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Tomato and lemon juice; buttered toast, crisp bacon.

LUNCHEON: Scrambled eggs, rolls, mixed green salad, frosted Danishes, tea, milk.

Dinner: One cup, casserole of leftover veal, parsnips, new potatoes, buttered peas, bread and butter, strawberry whip, coffee.

Mrs. Vianu Suffered With Upper Stomach & Bladder With Gas. So She Couldn't Sleep — But Now She Says: "Mosby's Tonic Has Relieved Me. This Medicine Is Splendid!"

Stomach gas! One of mankind's most common complaints. From minor ailment, with moderate discomfort after meals, it ranges to a condition where the stomach and intestines are blown out of all natural proportion by loads of gas. This is usually accompanied by gas pains, belching, constipation. Raw nerves, sleepless nights, headaches, worn out feeling, painful burning sensation in stomach. Pains in the bowels are the common results of stomach gas.

Many people suffer from distressing symptoms because they are bad off they can't even lie down in bed to sleep. When they do the stomach gas press upward and they cannot get it down again. So they have to prop themselves up in bed to relieve it. Any rest, either on the couch or in bed, constantly, 24 hours a day. Many of these people go on suffering, day after day. Nothing seems to help.

Mrs. G. VIANU SAYS: "At the particular table I was sitting at, the bidding went as follows:

CHURCH HOISTS FLAG IN HONOR ROYALTY VISIT

Patriotic Ceremony Held At Grace Lutheran— Pastor Speaks

While a congregation gathered under a large maple tree erected flag pole on the grounds of Grace Lutheran Church after the regular service on Sunday morning, a Union Jack was hoisted at the top of the pole and led by the Rev. H. F. Boettcher, joined in singing the national anthem in the church. "Flag raising ceremony held in Edmonton."

It was a tribute to Their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth.

Previous to the flag-raising and the singing of God Save the King, Rev. Mr. Boettcher spoke of the significance of the occasion.

The visit of Their Majesties King George and Queen Elizabeth to the Dominion of Canada during these current weeks and to the City of Edmonton during the coming week is evidence of the warm feelings of loyalty on the part of Canadian citizens," said Rev. Mr. Boettcher.

GLAD TO HONOR KING

"We, members of Grace Lutheran Church, gladly join in these expressions of loyal sentiments, all the more so since our Lord, Himself has bidding us to honor the King and Queen of Canada, 'that Caesar's things that are Caesar's'."

"Furthermore, St. Paul's letter to the Romans, Chapter 13, says: 'The city of the Romans Empire applies also to us who live in one of the important cities of the British Empire.'

HIGHER POWERS

"Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power greater than God. Whosoever therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God. And they that resist shall receive to themselves damnation. For rulers are not a terror to good works but to evil. Do ye what is good, and thou shalt have praise of the same: for God is the judge of good and of evil; but if thou do that which is evil, be afraid; for he bringeth not evil upon them for he is the minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath upon him that do evil."

"Wherefore, as ye must needs be subject, not only for wrath but also for conscience sake. Render therefore to all their dues: tribute to whom tribute is due; custom to whom custom; fear to whom fear; honor to whom honor; Romans Chap. 13."

NO GOVERNMENT PERFECT

"No human government is perfect. It is not perfect, we see that there is room for improvement in our own country. However, in a democracy and constitutional society, man's right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness is a right which we live. It is the duty and privilege of every citizen to make his influence felt for progress and improvement. We can thank God for the peace of the city."

"We are thankful that those under the British flag we do enjoy to this day religious and civil liberty. We are thankful that justness is the ruling principle of all the life and property is reasonably secure. We deeply appreciate every effort that has been and that God has made through the efforts in the interest of international peace and goodwill. We pray that God will strengthen the hands and heads of the peace makers."

FREEDOM AND OPPORTUNITY

"History shows that the Christian religion can thrive under other than democratic governments. Nevertheless the very concept of democracy was born and is still nurtured in the beliefs of evangelical Christianity. Before God who Christians worship no family or race has anything wherein to boast, and no man deserves to be deemed as having done well in deeming love as manifested in Christ Jesus excludes no individual or group from the benefits of freedom. Freedom is fundamental to both. Freedom is an indispensable element in both. As we honor the King, we shall be eternally grateful to the British family in our home life because the members of this family are exemplary in their conduct and behavior. We honor the emblem of His Majesty's governments: The Union Jack. When the Royal Standard flag is raised at this place for the first time we give expression to our thoughts and feelings by joining in singing the national anthem: God Save Our Gracious King."

Girl Cuts Foot

Jean Campbell, 16, 1160 108 Street, cut her foot severely when she stepped on what is believed to have been a broken bottle while walking in Westmount Park yesterday afternoon. She was taken to the General Hospital for medical attention.

Unscheduled Drive
Takes Regal Party Over
Great Divide on Sunday

By A. E. FULLFORD Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON, May 25—King George and Queen Elizabeth crossed the Great Divide of the Rocky Mountains in a motor car Sunday. The trip was 5,537 feet above sea level.

Canada Honored By Visit of King Avers Manning

Canada Honored BY VISIT OF KING AVERS MANNING

Canada is honored among all nations by the presence here of Their Majesties King George and Queen Elizabeth and their visit to the Dominion long will remain a great event in the history of the Manning ministry of trade and industry, declared in addressing the audience at the Strand theatre on Sunday.

He declared that Their Majesties had singularly honored this country when they walked alone and were met parallel to the road.

Again entered the demands of the people for a better road system, on the fairway and up to the club house where William Thompson, the pro, realized his ambition and was presented to Their Majesties. The King and Queen strolled and strolled on to the golf links, where a golf ball was lost in a gully which paralleled the road.

Again entered the demands of the people for a better road system, on the fairway and up to the club house where William Thompson, the pro, realized his ambition and was presented to Their Majesties. The King and Queen strolled and strolled on to the golf links, where a golf ball was lost in a gully which paralleled the road.

Their Majesties were fortunate in their stay, in being able to see the Rocky Mountains, the great bear habitat, a grizzly which was not a dangerous fauna as at the English Woods.

They saw Canada's busy bear at their busiest; they saw the mountain sheep in flocks. They saw the moose, the elk, the deer and the smaller animals. They saw the friendly bears and cubs, and in the evening a dance was held near the town, sawing buffalo.

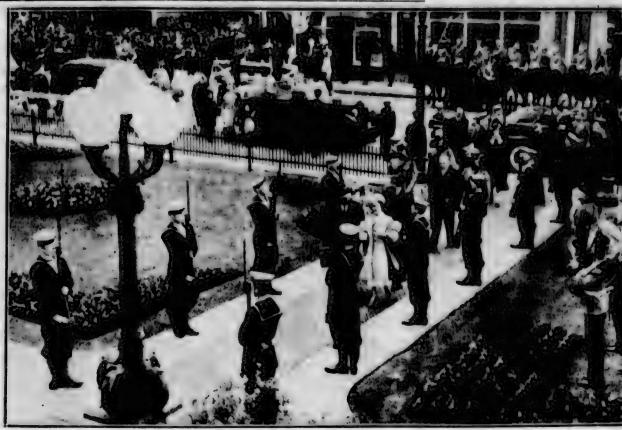

The Royal pilot plane crossed the Great Divide, flying over Mount Stephen Hill, listening to the roar of the rushing Alsek and entering British Columbia with the Royal train half an hour behind.

Thus Their Majesties strolled in the park, the press, camera and radio men and chatted here and there with them, then went up in the elevator to their room.

FREE FROM CROWDS

Throughout the day Their Majesties came and went, free from crowds. In the early evening

The King and Queen found rest in the heart of the Canadian Rockies at Banff Saturday and Sunday, but still ringing in their ears and standing forth vividly in their memories is the colorful pageantry

Benny On Stand
He Never Quits
Bonny Booters

TODAY'S star witness in the probe to determine the probable outcome of Thursday's 15-round battle here between Westhead and Warrington, for the Dominion light heavy and heavyweight championships is Benny Tait. Yesterday he sparred with Warrington for a couple of rounds and got a pretty fair idea of the sort of stuff the eastern Canada champ packs in his mitts.

"It's solid—just like punishing the side of the post-office," declared Tait, who has been sparring with Warrington since he was as solid and strong as this Warrington. His punches don't hurt him, just knock him, but they jar you right down to your toes. Even his left jabs are heavy jolts. I boxed a lot with Westhead and I'm telling you I'm going to be right at the ringside when these two meet. It's going to be a terrific fight."

Benny should know what he's talking about. He has probably swapped punches at one time or another with every good fighter in the west. He lays no claim to being a great fighter himself, but he does know a topnotch fighter when he runs into him.

Warrington will be on Stand next four rounds. In addition to sparring with Tait, he'll work on Stand's weak first rounds.

The boxer with the "T" has been getting a lot of rounds with Gordon Grayson and seems to have no trouble keeping up with the fast-stepping middleweight. Grayson is also convinced that the Warrington-Westhead affair will be the one the fans will be talking about for years to come. He backs up Tait's evidence as to Warrington's punching power and bathtight stability.

Westhead stepped through a hard workout at his Seba Beach quarters on Sunday and today he'll do his last hard grind.

Westhead comes Thursday night and he's ready for it.

Wilson Keeps on Punching

TOESEEN earnest guys who dope out cards lauding the value of Persistence should be very, very strong for Coach Harry Wilson, the Chicago basketball mentor. In fact, if one of his teams ever beats the Grads in an international title series, Wilson will become Exhibit "A" in the case for Queen Anne Ave. It was the fourteenth time that Harry Wilson has won a game in a row, and he's still in the seat of the international throne, at least Harry thinks it is 14 times but he has come so often that he isn't sure of the count.

"This team is the best squad of snipers I have ever had," Harry declared as he struggled through the flock of Mounties detaining after dual during the Royal Visit Banff. "I think you'll find their field accuracy is just about on a par with that of the Grads and we've got them beat now. We're in the lead and we're winning. The ass-sniffing girls in L. And me other other, but I think they are considerably faster. We've been drilling for this series for months now, and I sure it is going to be the greatest bid a Chicago team has ever made for the Underwood trophy."

Coming from Wilson, this forecast means a lot. If any of Peony Park's real boosters know the Queen's methods in Harry Wilson, he has better answer quickly. Glad News is No. 2022. The fan base back here for the fourteenth time is ample evidence that we believe whenever or later we can beat the world champions.

The Queen's girls are all go-go-go the last few days the stop more will give them a chance to get off the pageantry of the Royal Visit. They are all eager for action and for action at Queen's.

Roll Call of Touring Scots

THIS is a busy month of Scottish chess players the return of Scotch chess stars will win an amateur Alberta squad in Canada on Wednesday, May 31. This is also a month that Edmonton representatives may be able to make arrangements to bring the Scots here on their way from the coast. There will be duals, however, at a conference in Calgary on Wednesday night.

Meanwhile here is the lowdown on the personnel of the Scotish team:

Jimmy Dawson of the Rangers has not yet come, continuing a score of "Caps." Jimmy Carabine, Third Lanark, is probably the highest rated player in the game, valued at $50,000. Dougie Gray, Rangers, has been a light blue regular for 14 seasons, a remarkable record of consistency. Sports at least a "C" cap. Ben McNeil, Motherwell, has represented Scotland in the British Isles, Canada, Australia, and the United States. Willie Lyon, Celtic, the famous fullback, has earned many international honors because he was born in England. One of the really colorful personalities with the Scots, Archie Reeder, Harts, a positive goal getter and fine ball distributor, the main attribute of a useful center. Bobbie Bell, Rangers, must be given when Rangers paid a sweet fee to Faileach for his transfer overseas. John "Sister" Jones, Third Lanark, a much wanted boy with a terrific shot. Third best forward.

Douglas McAvey, Kilmarnock, a strapping with great ball control, Tommy McKeown, Motherwell, is regarded as one of Scotland's most reliable wing halves. George Hamilton, Aberdeen, an idol with Aberdeen supporters, has been a light blue regular for 14 seasons. A host of veterans, Jimmie Dykes, Dundee, a player of great skill and great attention, 24 major honor holder, needs. Sandy McNab, West Ham, Albion, Scotland's left back against England in April. Malcolm Macdonald, Celtic, a brilliant forward or half back and a delightful player to watch. Tommy McIntyre, Hibs, a youngster with a great future. John Gillies, Clyde, one of the most colorful members of Clyde's cup-winning team.

Two in the 35-hole final.

Kemp Richardson, Calgary Champion CALGARY, May 20—Kemp Richardson, brother of Johnny Richardson, 1937 champion, took command at the 17th and increased his lead to four up at the 22nd. Superiority on the greens gave him an edge.

JOLLIFFE SAYS GEOLOGY WORK IS PROCEEDING

Dominion Geologist Will Lead Survey Party To Yellowknife

Detailed geological work that is to be conducted in Yellowknife Bay is designed to promote the development of mining properties at all mines of sponge stone, said Dr. A. W. Jolliffe, of Ottawa, here Monday.

Here to lead a geological survey party that will be conducted in Yellowknife Bay and the surrounding area by Dr. C. S. Lord, geologist, member of the department of mines and resources.

In 1938, Dr. Jolliffe explained, work started on the geological survey of Yellowknife Bay and about 100 square miles were covered which was largely in the nature of an exploration of almost unknown quality.

"The general intention was to see if that area was at all favorable for the development of a mine or where such deposits should be sought," he said. "The direct outcome of that work, we have the present activity at Yellowknife," he added.

DETAILED

"Following that work, our object has been to do more detailed work on the area and continue the survey."

There are now two producing mines in Yellowknife and several others are being developed. The survey party that is to be organized in the area that may be useful in helping the mining area to progress.

THE GENERAL

Dr. Lord, who also will be with his party for four months, will prepare a report on the mineral resources of the area and Dr. C. S. Lord, Slave Lake, Snare river and Great Bear Lake, his assistant, Gordon Smith, of Winnipeg, explained.

The party will be based in the Slave River area, which is about 150 miles north-west of Yellowknife.

ACCOMPANYING

Accompanying Dr. Jolliffe will be L. S. Hill, Lucky Lake, Saskatchewan; G. C. Clark, Fort Smith; L. F. Folinsbee, Edmonton, and F. Macsey, Edmonton, cook.

Both surveys are being made for the Dominion mines and resources at Ottawa.

Their Majesties Walked Through a Sea Of Bobbing Indian Headresses

Shrill war-cries rent the air and 400 Indians swarmed from tepees in a red man's village that rose over night in Calgary to climax the visit of the King and Queen.

There were Sarrees and Bloods, Piegan and Blackfeet in the rousing scene and the thundering tattoo of mustang hoofs that these native "plainmen" staid to provide Their Majesties with a real "wild west show." The King and Queen waded through a sea of bobbing feather headdresses as they met and chatted with their wards.

Monarch, Queen Take Ride in Cab Lead Locomotive

FOUR EDMONTON CARMEN TO CARE FOR ROYAL TRAIN

Equipment on the Royal train and post train will be kept in permanent order by four Edmonton men who have served long terms as carmen with the C. N. R. Three of the men will join the train at Jasper, while the fourth will be on the train at Clover Bar. The men are Robert Ellis and Albert Phoenix, both of Edmonton, and Harry Reid and John J. Gow, who are to be on the Royal train.

All four will be based in Edmonton. The men will be on the Royal train at Clover Bar, 13 miles west along the Bow river canyon, then climb upward steeply.

CULMINATING POINT

Culminating point in the tour of Their Majesties will be the visit to the North Rockies at Stoney Creek, a bridge arch 275 feet above the mountain stream, highest point of the royal journey across British Columbia.

With the King and Queen in the caboose, the train will be led by a locomotive, the "Carmen," named after Carmen, California.

Both Rutherford and Lee expressed enthusiasm at the King's remarkable ability to learn quickly. The Queen, too, won their admiration.

SMILE MADE IT OKAY

"I thought I'd get a bit uneasy," Lee said. "But she was so gracious and smiling that I relaxed. I sat in the cab a minute when she smiled—and then I felt right at home again."

It was sure to be a thrill of a life time for Jack and I," he said. "The Queen entered the locomotive, Shirley and Sheila McCormick, shod with twigs, presented the Queen with a bouquet of flowers, and then Mother Burnell and Mary Berzenak, also passed her flowers. The Queen thanked each personally.

NATIONAL MILITARY STAFF
At Fort Edmonton, Presbyterian church historian welcomed a church the commanding officer, other professionals, officers and men of the Edmonton Garrison. Rev. James Cameron, Minister without Portfolio, and Mrs. Cameron, Mr. McRae, the first Edmontonian to be knighted, were on the tour.

"I am very pleased to say that Their Majesties are a welcome addition to Edmonton," concluded Cameron.

Merdeau Notes Being Passed For Currency

"Any money" is making its appearance again, and police issued a warning Monday to all shopkeepers and store persons who handle money to be on the lookout for the latest swindlers.

Followers of the service of worship as distributed by the Presbyterian Church in Canada have found ten peso notes which may resemble Canadian five and ten dollar bills.

Such a note Mexican bill was taken in a 77 street store in Edmonton. The note was purchased, but the swindler who cashed it was never found.

Police are looking for the man who passed the note.

Police are asking for the public to remain alert and to report to the house and their wives to some of their Majesties.

Cyclist Is Hurt

On Sunday, May 21, 1938, 164 street received superficial bruises but escaped serious injury when the bicycle she was riding was struck by a car allegedly driven by Arnold Oldman of Westmount, when the latter stopped for a moment to let a woman cross Jasper avenue and 93 street Sunday afternoon.

Paint Flag Pole

Flag pole at the city police station is receiving a shiny new coat of paint as part of a preparation for the Royal visit.

The Supreme Court is being asked to rule on whether the flag pole must come from Scotland. Remember the days when it used to come from American basement?

QUEEN HONORS ALEX. MCNEILL BY CONVERSE

looked for experience of conversing with Her Majesty, Mr. McNeill declared that "it was a wonderful thing."

"To have someone such an experienced person make a speech so rapidly through the veins and rouses a patriotic feeling such as I had, is a seldom experienced thing."

And here's how it all came about: Mr. McNeill last week had occasion to go to Calgary on business and remained over for the Royal Visit.

TOOK MOVIE CAMERA

Being somewhat of a device of his own, Mr. McNeill was partial to taking pictures, so he took along his movie camera.

On the day of the parade he took up a position of vantage close to the specially erected Indian encampment, across the street from the Calgary Legion.

As it happened he was the only "pal-face" in and around where the gaily bedecked Red Men were.

He had his camera set up, and only Indians in the offing, awaited the arrival of the Royal party.

At that moment his car came along, Mr. McNeill said he began taking his pictures out on the sidewalk, and at the same time waved a greeting of honor to Their Majesties.

"Both the King and Queen waved graciously and waved back to me," he said. "It was as you may imagine, very much thrilled at this recognition by our sovereigns."

STOP UNCHECKED

There was a stoppage of Their Majesties' car came to a stop and they descended and entered the Indian camp.

The stop was entirely unexpected and unprepared, he said, but it turned out to be a lucky one.

As Their Majesties mingled with the Indians, Mr. McNeill drew near and began taking pictures.

"I have a story to tell," Mr. McNeill said. "When I came to see Your Majesties come over to me and spoke. She asked me how I was and what I did for a living. I said, 'I'm a very fine—although naturally a bit flustered,' she said, 'Oh, you're from Scotland too.' She then asked me if I had ever been to Scotland. I replied that I was from Glasgow. She asked me how long I had been away. I said that I was over here in 1916. Her Majesty then asked me if I was doing well. I said that I was doing well, but that I was having trouble with my eyes. She then asked me if I had ever been here before. I said, 'Yes, I have been here ever since 1916.' Her Majesty then asked me if I was doing well. I said, 'I'm a very fine—although naturally a bit flustered,' she said, 'Oh, you're from Scotland too.' She then asked me if I had ever been to Scotland. I replied that I was from Glasgow.
